

CHGEOL - Award

for the most relevant contribution to applied geosciences

CHGEOL

CHGEOL, the Swiss Association of Geologists, not only encourages applied research, it rewards it!

The most relevant publication in this field will be awarded CHF 2'000.-

Deadline: September 30th of each year

What is «relevant»?

The central question of the evaluation is: "Will the obtained results influence the daily work of the practitioners?". Thus, not only innovative case studies in the field of applied earth sciences can be rewarded, but also fundamental research opening new application fields or leading to new techniques to be used by practitioners.

What publications will be considered?

There are two prize categories:

1. Bachelor-, Master-, and Diploma-theses
2. PhD-theses

The winner of each category will be awarded CHF 2'000.-.

Who can apply?

Any earth scientist who has graduated from a Swiss university within the past year.
